Largest enrollment in history

Auburn Enrolls 7,904 Students

AUBURN HAS MARKED up a new enrollment record.

Alabama Polytechnic Institute's 1955 fall quarter registration totaled 7,904, giving the college the largest student body in its 83-year history. This is 244 more than the previous high of 7,660 set in 1948.

College Registrar Charles W. Edwards, '20, said he believed enrollment would have reached 10,000 this fall "if housing had been available."

Housing was definitely the factor which limited the enrollment. However, the final registration figures are somewhat higher than the 7,500 predicted before the fall quarter opened. The 1954 registration total was 7,059.

Engineering largest

OF THE 7,904 students, 28 per cent or 2,804 are in the School of Engineering. This is an increase of 602 over the fall of 1954.

The other eight schools enrolled the following numbers of students:

Science and Literature, 1,448; Education, 1,432; Agriculture, 691; Architecture and the Arts, 523; Chemistry, 326; Home Economics, 301; Veterinary Medicine, 258; and Pharmacy, 221.

Registration by classes finds 2,500 freshmen. There are 1,856 sophomores; 1,605 juniors; 1,282 seniors; 78 fifth year students (in architecture and veterinary medicine); 538 graduate students; and 45 special students.

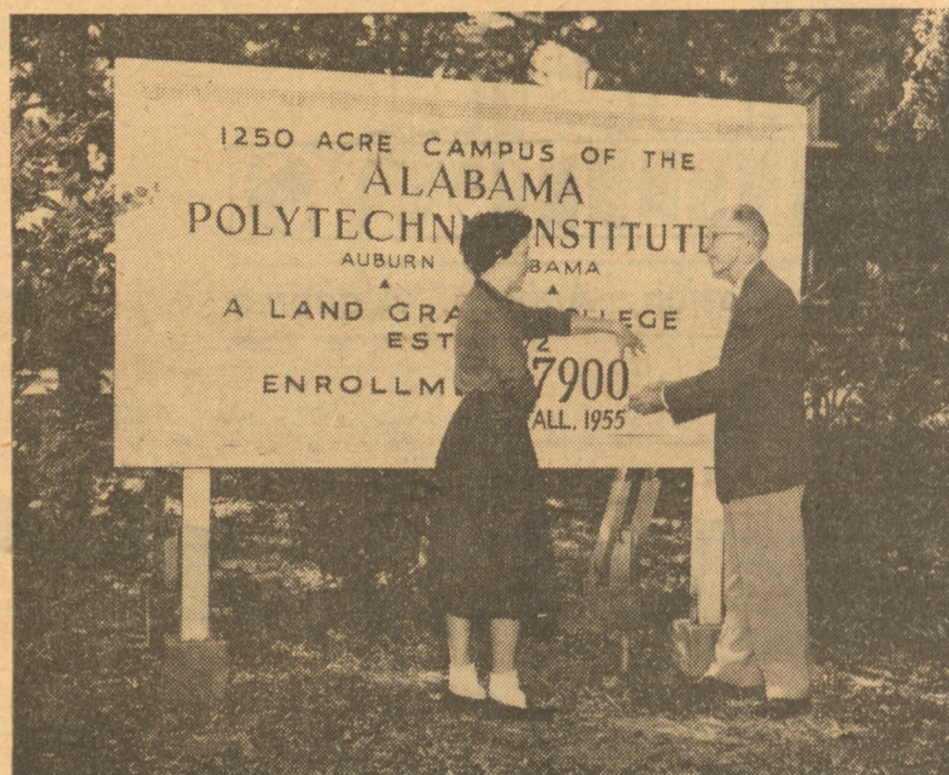

The ratio of men to women students is 3.4 to 1. Auburn has 6,153 men and 1,761 coeds.

Methodist Church

FIRST SERVICES in Auburn's new $380,000 Methodist Church were conducted Sept. 25 by the Rev. Joel D. Mc-

METHODIST CHURCH

AUBURN'S 7,900th student is Mrs. Nora Evelyn Odom Perry of Decatur. With the help of Registrar Charles W. Edwards, '20, she is bringing the Alabama Polytechnic Institute sign on College Street up-to-date. Replacing last year's enrollment figures are the big numerals 7,900. Late registration carried 1955 fall enrollment to 7,904. One of the large number of married students on the campus, Mrs. Perry is a sophomore studying home economics education. Her husband, Bobby Dean Perry, is a senior in mechanical engineering, also from Decatur.

David, pastor, and Bishop Clare Purcell of Birmingham.

The new building lies to the east of the former Methodist Church, which will now be used as a chapel. Of colonial design, the new church will seat 1,050. Pews are white oak and the walls of the sanctuary are gray. An educational unit includes 13 Sunday school classrooms.

George G. Blau, '30, of Atlanta, was architect for the new church.

The Methodist Church is Auburn's oldest. It was organized in 1837, and the first log church-schoolhouse was built on the present site. In 1850 a white frame church replaced the original structure. This was remodeled, enlarged and brick veneered in 1899. The building was used for Methodist services for the next 56 years with only minor repairs and alternations.

Stained-glass windows will be placed in the sanctuary of the new church later.

The Rev. Ashland Shaw, '51, is director of Methodist student work (Wesley Foundation.)

"Danny" fellow

API'S FOURTH Danforth Fellow is spending a year on the campus as an intern in Christian living. She is Deborah Brewster of Yankton, S.D., a 1955 graduate of Colorado College, Colo.

Her work is with student organizations, the Student Council on Religious Activities and denominational student groups. Advising her are API's Danforth Associates, William G. Sherling, '47, and Mrs. Dorothy Norman Sherling, '47.

Auburn Alumni Association Guest Book Lists Recent Visitors In The Office

MORE AND MORE alumni are visiting the Auburn Alumni Association headquarters in the Auburn Union building each month.

Alumni Secretary Joseph B. Sarver, Jr., '37, invited all returning alumni to come by the alumni offices and to register in the Association's guest book.

Among the visitors to the office from July to Oct. 1 were the following alumni:

Sam H. Browne, '01, Brookhaven, Miss.; Lee Wharton, '01, Gadsden; George B. Foss, '04, St. Petersburg, Fla.; Mose Frank, '08, Montgomery; Carl Wilmore, '08, Birmingham; G. W. Among new student religious workers at Auburn this fall are Richard C. Spain, formerly a school teacher of Bremen, Ga., now Baptist student director; and Mrs. Nancy Brown Owen, '47, Presbyterian student worker. (See Alumnalities).

The Rev. David W. Friedrichs, formerly of Columbus, Miss., has been installed as new pastor of Auburn's Trinity Lutheran Church. He also serves as student pastor for Lutheran students at API.

The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) is holding Sunday morning services in Thach Auditorium. A proposed church and student center building will later be constructed on Cox Street.

Mortar Board

INSTALLATION of Auburn's women's honorary, Sphinx, as the 95th national chapter of Mortar Board will be held at Auburn's Social Center at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 13.

The installation and initiation of new members will be a public ceremony.

All alumnae of Sphinx or Cardinal Key (senior women's honorary which combined with Sphinx in 1952) may become members of Mortar Board upon initiation. Membership can not be transferred to Mortar Board without initiation, however.

Alumnae interested in affiliating with Mortar Board are asked to send $12.85 initiation fee to Miss Katharine Cater, Dean of Women, Social Center API, Auburn, Ala., no later than Oct. 29. Dean Cater pointed out that the initiation has been set for the Sunday following the Auburn-Georgia game for the convenience of alumnae.

Lucy Roy of Auburn is president of Sphinx.

Second nationally in defense

Tigers Win Two, Tie Kentucky

By Bill Hutto, '56

IN THEIR FIRST three games of the 1955 season, the Auburn Tigers did not develop into a juggernaut. But the pre-season speculation that they would be one of the nation's peskiest football teams continued to hold water.

Chattanooga's stubborn Moccasins came to town in the Sept. 24 opener. They put up a scrap before they were felled 15-6 by a pair of beautiful runs by Fob James and a quick defensive maneuver by Joe Childress.

Florida was mastered 13-0 on the next Saturday. Auburn folk raided the turnstiles 26,000 times to set a new Tiger attendance mark for Cliff Hare Stadium.

Then the scene shifted to Birmingham's Legion Field Oct. 8 and a highly anticipated game with Kentucky. The final result was a 14-14 draw. When the dust had settled, each squad was reassured that the other had a very good ball team.

The Plainsmen were considered as tough as any team around the Southland as they looked to Atlanta and their Oct. 15 war with Georgia Tech. They owned an impressive statistics sheet. But no one knew better than Auburn's Tigers that statistics sheets don't win football games.

Left Halfback Fob James, the Lanett senior with the crafty broken-field routine, rode into the Yellow Jacket fracas as the third top rusher in the nation. He held number nine spot in national total offense.

Fullback Joe Childress, a serious All-America contender, teamed up with James to give the War Eagles as powerful a one-two punch as existed anywhere in the conference.

The team itself had earned its national notice. After a trio of battles, Auburn ranked second in team defense and fifth in pass defense.

Auburn 15, 'Nooga 6

SINCE MOST of the 16,000 present were looking for a carbon copy of 1954's 45-0 rout, a mild letdown for onlookers accompanied the Plainsmen's debut with Chattanooga. The Auburn partisans were

In the 15-6 Tiger win, it was James who paced the War Eagles. The shifty operative sifted through 'Nooga defense 14 times for 178 yards — an average of 12.7 per shift. Fob scored both Auburn touchdowns on crowd-raising trips of 61 and 76 yards. The little 170-pound halfback earned the majority of Jordan's post-game plaudits for his afternoon's toil.

The Tiger safety took place when Childress broke through the Moc resistance to block a punt, chase down the recoveree and smear him in the end zone.

Auburn 13, Florida 0

THINGS PICKED up considerably in Auburn circles after the Plainsmen turned back a well thought of Florida team 13-0 at Cliff Hare Stadium the following week.

The record crowd saw Auburn win its ninth straight game. James donated another touchdown to the cause. And there was a new face on the scoring scene in this one.

Right Halfback Jimmy Powell, a senior from Dora who had seen virtually no service in his first three seasons on the Plains, plugged through for a TD from two yards away after senior Quarterback Bill Burbank had engineered the Tigers down to that point.

Soph sensations Jimmy (Red) Phillips, the rangy end, and Tim Baker, the hard-hitting guard, saved the day for Auburn twice against the Gators. Both pulled down touchdown-bound Floridians without assistance. Quarterback Jimmy Cook led the first Tiger score.

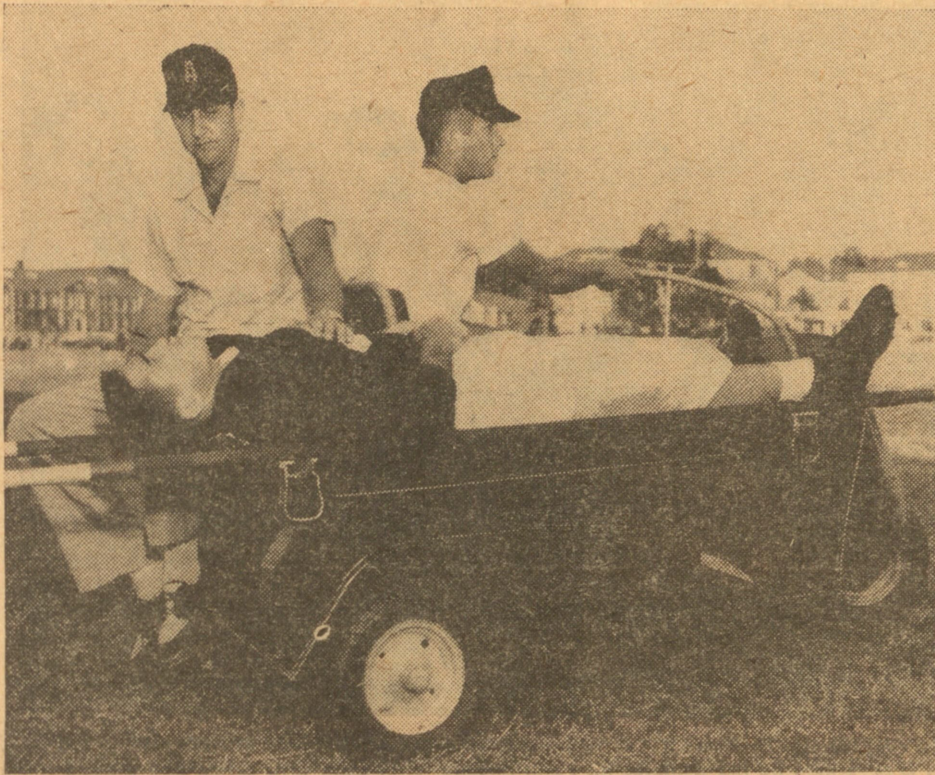

Auburn 14, Kentucky 14

THE KENTUCKY deadlock proved to be a trying experience for Shug's men. The tossing arm of Wildcats Quarterback Bob Hardy gave the Blue Grass Colonels an early-game TD.

Breaks were about even in this one. The Tigers cashed in on their scoring chances only twice during the afternoon. Auburn's initial touchdown was made possible when James intercepted a Cat aerial on Kentucky's 34. Childress did the honors from two yards out.

James himself carried the final mission on Auburn's second score of the day. He sped 68 yards for the TD.

The Tigers attempted a trio of field goals, but all fell short of their mark.

THIS IS ONE PIECE of equipment that Auburn coaches are hoping they won't put into service. It is a four-cylinder, electric powered cart, to be used as a "football ambulance." The cart, designed and made at Agricola Furnace Co. in Gadsden, was donated to the Auburn Athletic Association by Otto Agricola, II, '45, of Gadsden. Halfback Alton Shell is demonstrating how an injured football player may be taken off the field on the cart. Manager John Ross drives the ambulance and Trainer Kenny Howard, '46, looks after the "injured" player.

Snitz Snider, '29

Coach Of Champions

THOSE BESSEMER Purple Tigers consistently rank among the top high school football teams of the country.

The man responsible is Euil (Snitz) Snider, '29—a man who is serving his 23rd season at Bessemer. He is a keen student of the technical aspects of athletics, and knows how to develop the finest qualities in his boys.

As his record proves, he also knows how to develop the finest qualities in a football team. Snider moved up to head coach at Bessemer in 1933. That year his undefeated Tigers won eight and tied one. The overall record—starred with state championships for each of the five undefeated seasons—reads 125 victories, 37 losses and five ties.

In three of the past four years—1951, 1952 and 1954—the undefeated Purple Tigers have won the Alabama high school championship trophies.

Olympic sprinter

"SNITZ WAS an inspirational leader in college," according to Auburn Track Coach Wilbur Hutsell. Coach Hutsell pointed out that Snider captured the 1928 track team.

A champion athlete, he established a new American record of 48 seconds for the 400 meter at 1928 U. S. Olympic trials in Philadelphia, Penn. He later ran 400 meters at the meet in Amsterdam, Holland, becoming the first of Auburn's four Olympic Games competitors. Others were Percy Beard, in 1932, Whitey Overton, 1948, and Jim Dillion, 1952.

Snitz's quarter-mile record stood at Auburn for more than 20 years. One of Snider's own students—Don Johnson—set the new mark. (Don, recently discharged from Army service, has returned to the Plains and will be running for Auburn next spring.)

In addition to his track activities, Snitz lettered in baseball and football. He was graduated with a bachelor's degree from the School of Education. A one-year coaching stint brought him as assistantship at Bessemer in 1930.

He was married to the former Breezie Burton, also a native of Jefferson County, in 1934.

Athletic director

AFTER THREE years as assistant, the young athlete was named Bessemer's head coach. The names Snider and Bessemer have been synonymous in sports circles almost ever since.

There was one separation — during World War II. Coach Snider served at Birmingham's Howard College under the Navy's wartime program in 1942 and 1943. He returned to his Purple Tigers in 1944.

Euil Snider's title is athletic director of Bessemer High School. Football activities, though the best known, are only a part of the Bessemer athletic picture. The school fields teams in all major sports. Purple Tiger track teams have produced many state championships.

During the summers, Coach Snider supervises the entire recreation program for the City of Bessemer.

The coach believes athletics should contribute to the educational program of the school. "A boy pays a big price to play football," he has said. "If he doesn't become a better man for doing it and if the rest of the students didn't benefit from the program, it wouldn't be worth having."

The fact that Bessemer's program is well "worth having" was recognized by that city last December. His former students, including many college football players and Bessemer citizens, celebrated Snitz Snider Day. A new car and a check were presented to Coach Snider. In addition he received letters and telegrams of tribute from fellow coaches and former players.

The coach's own coach, Auburn's Wilbur Hutsell, described Snider as a "great leader of boys and men. His disposition makes it a pleasure to be around him. Add it all up and you'll find that Snitz Snider is one of the finest Auburn men anywhere."

Tiger Cubs Chalk Up Ties With Georgia, Florida Freshmen

THE 37-MAN squad of eager Auburn Tiger Cubs this season can't seem to escape "dat ole debbil"—the tie.

Coach Dick McGowan, '42, and his aides have turned their proteges loose against Georgia and Florida in games away from the Plains. On both occasions, the Tiger Cubs have come home with a draw.

The Georgians greeted their Auburn guests Oct. 3 with a 6-6 deadlock and the Gainesville affair Oct. 10 ended 13-13.

The prime prospect on the squad is young Tommy Lorino, the Bessemer wizard on everybody's All-America team last year. Tommy has not been a ball-of-fire in the opening contests, but nobody's worried about him. He has a wealth of talent. Before he hangs up his cleats at Auburn, Tiger coaches feel that he'll produce for them.

Auburn 6, Georgia 6

IN THE GEORGIA game, the Tiger yearlings called on a pass play from quarterback George Egge to End Rich Kreitling, the rangy flankman from Chicago, for their only score. The play covered 44 yards; 19 on the flip and 25 more on a strut by the Chicagoan. Egge comes from Hayward, Calif. He is the son of Col. George Egge, Sr., '32, an Auburn standout in the late 1920s and early thirties.

Lorino's conversion attempt was wide. That wrapped up the Cub scoring for the day. All this was first-period action.

Georgia evened up the count in the second stanza when Quarterback Charlie Byars sneaked across from the one to climax a 43-yard drive. Carl Manning missed the vital point.

Auburn 13, Florida 13

AGAINST THE Little Gators both Auburn scores were registered on quarterback plunges. The first was an opening period attempt by Egge, from two yards out. The play was the finale of a 63-yard march covered in 11 plays.

In the second period, the Baby Gators tried a fourth down on their 12. Booter Jimmy Dunn was tackled on the one-yard line. The Auburn scoring honor belonged to Tiger Quarterback Richard Wood, a Lanett boy who stands 6 feet, 5 inches in height.

Auburn End Jerry Wilson, who missed his first extra point attempt, connected after the last marker.

Florida scored twice: a 72-yard pass-run in the second quarter and a final quarter tally set up by a 44-yard pass.

Lorino's talented right foot caused considerable eyebrow-lifting when he sent a booming punt 66 yards into the ozone. He brought home a 41.3 kicking average for the game.

The final game on the Baby Tiger agenda is an Oct. 24 engagement with the highly regarded Alabama freshmen at Cliff Hare Stadium in Auburn. Kickoff time is 2 p.m.

James, Childress Break Gafford's Rushing Mark

NOT ONE, but two, 1955 Tigers have broken the all-time Tiger rushing record set by Monk Gafford, '43.

Gafford, a halfback on Jack Meagher's teams of 1940-42, contributed 1,435 yards to Auburn's cause during his three years as a varsity player. His average gain was 7.65 yards in 1942.

After 13 years, the Gafford record was broken twice in the single Auburn game against Kentucky. Fob James, Jr., and Joe Childress turned the trick.

Halfback James pushed his four-year total to 1,494 yards for the new Auburn record. He gained 360 yards in the first three games of the 1955 season. Fullback Childress also passed Gafford's mark by 55 yards in the Kentucky game. His total on Oct. 8 was 1,490 yards during his college career, just four yards behind the James' record.

James and Childress were scheduled to play seven more games in the 1955 season, and both are bound to set new records for the Tigers.

New Auburn Clubs Started

AUBURN ALUMNI in the Chicago area met Sept. 15 at the Congress Hotel to discuss the possibility of forming an Auburn Club. Those attending scheduled another meeting for Oct. 13.

After a social hour, movies of the Auburn-Georgia 1954 football game were shown.

James M. (Jim) Hunnicutt, '50, has spearheaded the attempts to establish a new Auburn Club in Chicago.

Other alumni attending the meeting were R. M. Bostick, '16, Charles F. Moreland, '15, Peter T. Gilliam, '41, James G. Brown, '39, H. B. Park, Jr., '46, W. L. Key, '52, Tom Beasley, '09, Eugene F. Mulhall, '52, James C. Lombardo, '51, W. T. Boozer, '51, H. P. Hodges, '07, William Oyler, '28, William A. McGinty, '48.

Michigan

ORGANIZATION of an Auburn Club of Michigan was started at a meeting in Jackson, Mich., July 7 and further plans were made Sept. 9.

William L. White, '14, of Jackson was elected president. Other officers are John T. Wheeler, '40, Grosse Pointe, vice president; and Mrs. Freida Duke Stahl, '50, Dearborn, secretary.

Both meetings were held at the Hayes Hotel in Jackson.

Alumni attending included Sefton H. Carden, '47, Homer; Charles M. Scales, '48, Berkley; Willard F. Stahl, '50, Dearborn; Robert E. Adams, '49, Dearborn; Mr. and Mrs. Weiland B. LaNicca, '27, Farmington; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. McDonough, '51, Big Rapids, and the officers.

Plans for a meeting in the Detroit area have been made for Nov. 12. Mr. John T. Wheeler, '40, 19298 Raymond, Grosse Pointe 36, Mich., is in charge of arrangements.

Hammond D. Baker, '17, 2832 East Grand Boulevard, Detroit, Mich., has arranged a meeting of alumni in the Detroit area for Oct. 19.

Morgan-Limestone

PRESIDENT GILMER BLACKBURN, '50, presided at a meeting of the Limestone-Morgan County Auburn Club in Decatur's Gas and Electric Building Sept. 8.

Thirty alumni watched films of the 1954 Auburn-Georgia game.

Joseph B. Sarver, Jr., alumni secretary, outlined the work of the Alumni Association in a brief speech.

Alumni attending the meeting include W. G. (Bill) Simpson, '21, Claude H. McBride, Jr., '49, Ed Price, '27, F. C. Giddens, '49, R. L. Hundley, '50, Dr. Ray Ashwander, '42, W. J. (Bud) Bryan, '54, Julian Harris, '25, J. T. Tatum, '28, Harold W. Smith, '41, Cecil McMillan, '29, Alvin G. Briscoe, '43, Mrs. Phyllis Birdsong Blackburn, '51, Carl J. Young, '44, R. B. Freeman, Sam J. McClure, '43, Decatur; Robert Perry, '34, Hartselle; H. L. Long, '30, Falkville; Lyman C. Jones, '39, Delwood Flanagan, '34, Athens.

Columbus, Ga.

DOUGLAS FAULKNER, '43, was elected president of the Columbus, Ga., Auburn Club at the annual meeting at the Columbus Country Club Aug. 30.

Other new officers are Charles Dimon, '47, secretary; and Don Hunter, '40, treasurer.

After watching the color-sound film of the Gator Bowl, Columbus alumni heard Coach Jordan call the 1954 Tigers "the best team in the United States at the close of the season." In discussing the 1955 season, the Auburn coach said, "We are rated high in the national picture and hope to live up to it."

Jimmy Biggers, '49, retiring president of the Columbus Club, introduced Joe Sarver, '37, Auburn Alumni secretary.

Middle Tennessee

"HACK AND MACK" Night was observed by the Middle Tennessee Auburn Club in Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 9, when about 50 Auburn alumni turned out to honor W. S. Hackworth, '16, and Carl McFarlin, '16, at a dinner meeting.

Mr. Hackworth has been president of the N.C. and St. L. Railroad since 1935. Mr. McFarlin was recently named executive vice president of Merritt-Chapman and Scott Corp., in charge of the company's chemical, paint and metallurgical division. He is a former president of Tennessee Products and Chemical Corp. Both are active Auburn alumni.

J. H. Ford, '23, paid tribute to the two honor guests. Herbert Corson, famous Nashville toastmaster, performed his regular duties at the speaker's table.

M. H. (Big Boy) Nabors, '26, was elected president of the club. He succeeds George Humphries, '51, who became a director.

Other officers elected are George Perry, '38, first vice president; Ewell Conwell, '28, second vice president; Ralph Langreck, '50, secretary; Jim Naftel, '49, treasurer. Directors are Mr. Hackworth, Mr. McFarlin, Cecil Stokes, '28, Mr. Ford, Lewis Johnson, '49, and Mr. Humphries.

Alumni Secretary Joseph B. Sarver, Jr., '37, spoke briefly.

Sports Columnist Fred Russell of the Nashville Banner and Blackstone Dozier, of Radio Station WKDA which will carry six Auburn games this fall, were special guests.

Fletcher Farrington, '30, moves up

President Of County Agents

AT ITS FIRST convention, the newly formed Alabama County Agents Association chose Fletcher Farrington, '30, to serve as president.

The choice was a wise one. Under Mr. Farrington's leadership, the association was developed into a worthwhile service group for API Extension Service personnel. Fellow workers showed their appreciation by selecting the Tallapoosa County farm agent for other honors.

He became vice director and director of the Southern region on the board of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents. The vice presidency of the national group followed.

Now, in 1955, his fellow workers from throughout the United States have elected Mr. Farrington president of the National Association of County Agricultural Agents. More than 60 Extension Service workers from Alabama attended the convention in East Lansing, Mich., in September to see Mr. Farrington's election and installation.

Auburn was his goal

MR. FARRINGTON has spent his whole life in agriculture. He has served 25 years as a county agent, 23 years at Dadeville in Tallapoosa County.

Fletcher, born on a farm near Blountsville, became a 4-H member as soon as he had the opportunity. His first projects were corn and pigs. He won the county pig-growing contest—and a trip to Auburn as the prize—when he was 14. The visit provided the young farm boy with a goal: he decided to come to Auburn to study agriculture after finishing high school.

After his graduation from Snead

FARRINGTON, '30

Seminary in 1923, he spent the first of five summers at API. During the winters he taught school in Cullman and Etowah Counties. Fletcher served as principal of a junior high school and later coached in a senior high school. In 1925, he married Miss Eunice G. Gullede.

He began attending Auburn as a full-time student in 1928. Although he worked his way through college, he received high grades and was a member of Phi Kappa Phi and Gamma Sigma Delta honoraries. Fletcher was also a member of Spiked Shoe, track honorary, and Square and Compass.

To Tallapoosa

MR. FARRINGTON'S first assignment was as county agent for Pike County.

In March, 1932, he was transferred to Dadeville as county agent for Tallapoosa County. He has held the position for 23 years. During this time, Mr. Farrington has been cited in the state and nationally for spearheading a drive from a one-crop economy into a balanced program of diversified farming.

Cotton is still an important crop in the county. One-variety cotton improvement clubs are active; Tallapoosa has had one state winner in the improvement contest in recent years. Other county farm enterprises include dairying, beef cattle, poultry and forestry.

P. O. Davis, '16, director of the API Extension Service, said, "Mr. Farrington's work in Tallapoosa has been a big factor in revolutionizing farming and farm living there." The director cited basic changes in farming and the outstanding program of land reclamation followed by wise use of land for improvement and profits.

Land reclaimed

DURING HIS college days, Mr. Farrington had been impressed with the use of agricultural engineering in reclaiming land. Later this became one of his major interests.

It was not surprising, then, that Tallapoosa County was the first in the nation to use power equipment on a large scale in land reclamation. Visitors from 37 states and five nations came to the county in 1934 and 1935 to see this work.

The area was completely terraced through a Cooperative Land Reclamation Association, an organization underwritten by county officials. In addition, 190 farm lakes were constructed.

Kiwanis official

HE HAS LONG been a leader in civic affairs. Mr. Farrington was instrumental in getting the Piedmont youth center established in Dadeville.

He was charter president of the Dadeville Kiwanis Club, and has served on district and international committees. He has been elected both lieutenant governor and governor of the Alabama District of Kiwanis.

An active member of the Methodist Church, Mr. Farrington has served as chairman of the board of stewards, Sunday school teacher and building committee chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Farrington have four children, including Mrs. Annie Sue Farrington Scherer, '49, of Sylacauga. Barbara is in Japan with the Red Cross. Fletcher, Jr., 14, and Betty, 12, are active 4-H Club members in Tallapoosa County.

Alabamians named

SIX ALABAMA county agents have accepted committee assignments from the National Association of County Agricultural Agents for the 1955-56 year.

The committeemen who will work with President Farrington are Beverly Holston, '23, Tuscaloosa, Tuscaloosa County, relationships; Carl Parker, '44, Fort Payne, DeKalb County, 4-H Clubs; H. J. Carter, '29, Troy, Pike County, information and publicity; L. T. Wagoner, '33, Hartselle, Morgan County, Extension service programs; J. E. Morris, '24, Wetumpka, Elmore County, land grant colleges; and D. S. Loyd, '38, Oneonta, Blount County, professional training.
